Rise of Child Kidnapping in Pakistan: How to Protect Your Children from Kidnappers.

The alarming rise in the kidnapping cases in Punjab have also compelled the Government of Sindh to issue a security alert for children of the province.

The law agencies have been strictly ordered to stay vigilant and parents have been cautioned to keep their young ones safe. The alert also instructed that in a case of any suspicious activity, the CPLC or the police should be notified right away. According to reports, 767 children have been kidnapped in Punjab alone and the number is still on the rise.

However, parents can take some precautionary measures to protect their kids as much as possible.

SAFETY TIPS FOR PARENTS

1. Avoid leaving children alone in the company of servants or drivers for pick and drop from school.
2. If kids are not travelling via a personal conveyance, it is important that they memorize the route so that they notice any suspicious deviation.
3. Notify the school administration regarding the name and CNIC of the person authorized to pick the child in the absence of parent or guardian. The children should not be allowed to go with an unauthorized person.
4. Run a background check on the house servants by submitting their CNIC copy at police stations.
5. Teach children to avoid communicating with strangers or accompany someone unknown. Even be aware of dubious relatives or friends as they can easily inflict harm on your kids.

SAFETY TIPS FOR CHILDREN

1. Know how and when to call 15 to contact the police.
2. If you feel threatened by someone, escape immediately and run to safety.
3. Keep a list of important contacts to alert them in need of an emergency.
4. Don't let any stranger on call or at the door know that you are home alone.
5. If you are ever taken away or held by a stranger by force; scream, kick, bite and fight as hard as you can to run away!
